Now that the Chiefs of the Fire Department have declared that there are no more bodies a the Park place ruins, the Morgue has become the great point of interest for those who are looking for friends or relatives supposed to have perished in the awful disaster. Up to 3 o'clock to-day the record shows that torty-nine bodies of the sixty-one dug out of he ruins have been identified. Of the fifty-five charred and mangled bodies rhich have been taken to the Morgue, there are twelve still unrecognized.

Four of the new identifications were made this morning. They are those of New man Goldschmidt, Charles Baumgarten, Will iam McPherson and Charles Henry Dowley.

They losisted that they could not have been mistaken in their identification and demanded the body. The young woman had told the attendant that she and her brother were Homan Catholics, while young Goldschmidt was of the Hebrew faith.

The keeper at once ordered that the body should be carefully examined, and in a few moments it was ascertained beyond a shadow of doubt that the body in box 8 was not that

They had resd the description of the body and identified it by the keys, penknife and postage-stamp case which were found upon it.

Inside the cover of the stamp case was the lead man's name scratched with a pin. Mr. Baumgarten said that his son had told his mother only a few days before the accident that if anything ever happened to him his body would be known by the keys and the name inside the postage-stamp case.

Young Baumgarten belonged to the Ancient Order of Foresters, Jr., of Brooklyn, and the Society will bury him.

THIS ONE NEVER REPORTED MISSING. Another body was identified this morning which had not been reported to the police as among the missing. It was that of Charles Forty-nine of the Sixty-one Park Henry Dowley, age 27, a truck-driver of 140 Cherry street.

CARTING AWAY DEBRIS. This afternoon Mrs. Mary Cummin identified the body of her husband, Sherman Cummin, a proof-reader on the Mail and Express. On of his legs was shorter than the other, and it was this that led to his identification.

Cummin was forty-one years old and lived at 437 Tenth street, Brooklyn, with his wife that he was going to the baseball game that afternoon and would go down to Petersen's restaurant and have lunch.
